Dear Reader(s),

I would like to apologize that the book concluded abruptly and wasn't as long as I had hoped. Therefore, to fill up the space in this book, I'm going to reprint a classic comic from the venerable, near-centenarian magazine The New Woker.

Thank you for understanding my situation and enjoy.

—The author

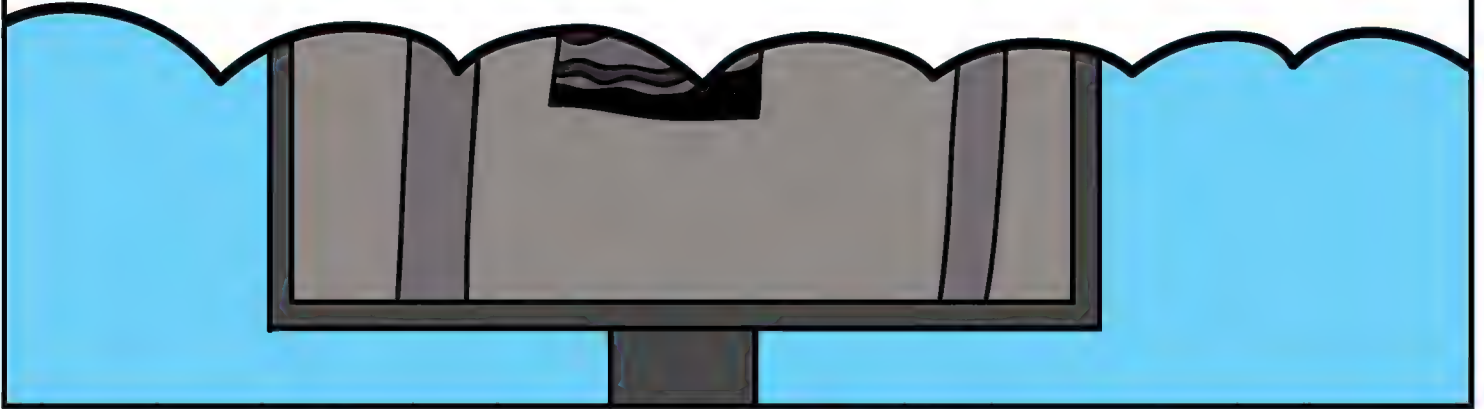

P.S. Additional apologies for the lame, cringy, right-wing-grifter-sounding reference to a certain magazine whose name should be pretty obvious. It was the only way to mock said magazine in its present state.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Michael Jacoby has always had this obsession to create things and tell stories. This obsession got stronger as he advanced through his education, gaining an A.A. in Liberal Arts from Burlington County College in May 2012 and later a B.A. in Graphic Design from Rutgers University, Camden in May 2015. While in the latter school, he learned about book binding and how to make posters and books.

In October 2016, he created his portfolio website, DoorJam Creations, to show off his graphic design work for potential employers. The following January, he added webcomics to the site, including Americus Video and The Sbuirrels. The site is also home to the adult parody Derek the Steam Engine, blog writings, and a collection of strange MPA(A) rating reason compilations.
